NCSY JUMP: JUDGES RUBRIC
Adapted from OU Impact Accelerator Peer Review Rubric

Criteria	5	4/3	2/1	Total
Communal need	-Services an imperative need for Jewish teenagers -Issue is not yet addressed by the Jewish community	-The project services an important but not critical need for the community	-There is not really a need for this idea in the Jewish community
Innovation/creativity	-This idea is exciting -The method makes use of innovative tools and resources	-The method of service could potentially be successful, but not necessarily -The method of service is exciting but not innovative	-The method of service is not new or exciting but would effectively solve the issue
Mission Driven	-The team is personally connected to the mission -The team is passionate about their success	-The team feels strongly about the mission and wants it to succeed but doesn't appear closely tied	-The team is neither connected to their mission nor do they appear passionate about its success
Leadership	-The team is tenacious and appears dedicated -The team can clearly communicate their vision	-The team displays potential -The team can communicate their vision	-The team is unable to communicate their vision

Promise/Viability	-There is a clear vision and direction and attainable goals -The team is striving for scale or replication in the broader Jewish community -The team is malleable and can pursue goals in more than one way -Proposed idea can be ongoing -This event or program extends beyond any existing school/community program.	-The team has a general idea of their vision without a specific direction -The team has basic goals they seek to achieve without a concrete approach -The initiative is locally focused but can be scaled to other communities -The team has a singular approach towards the issue but can change that	-The venture vision is vague in its formulation - Goals are unclear -The idea/program cannot be easily brought to other communities -The program can only be executed in one way
Presentation	-The teens are organized and prepared -The presenters are articulate and confident -The team used media to present their ideas in a clear way	-The teens are prepared - The presenters articulated well	-The team is unprepared and not organized
School Name			Total	